

The questions need to be checked with the client:

1. What kind of editing feature are you looking for? For example, do you want a simple textbox that allows content modifications, or are you aiming for something more user-friendly?
2. How do you feel about the current homepage? If you don't like it, what specific areas would you like to see changed?
3. Regarding admin roles: Different admins might have different permissions. We need to understand the specific type of admin role after they confirm.
4. How do you want your website to differ from competitors or similar websites, especially concerning the chatbot feature?
5. For our different content sections, are you looking for a consistent layout across all pages, or do you want varied formats for different pages?
6. There seems to be some repetition in the current website sections, like many components on the navbar being duplicated in the contact section. Should the new design simplify this by removing the redundancies?
7. Do you want the content - specifically the text - on each page to remain consistent with the original website?
8. Are we still considering implementing the search function, or has that idea been shelved?
9. For the homepage slider window, are you thinking of incorporating an animation?
10. For the editing function, are there additional features you'd like? Such as a history log, the ability to restore or back up, the option to upload pictures, cropping tools, and any file size limitations?
11. Server and domain: Can we handle hosting for you or provide the domain?
12. Is this website genuinely necessary?
